upon the statement he makes: In August, 1881, it was discovered that my son's wife was in the last stages of consumption. She was coughing incessantly, and times would discharge quantities of pus from her lungs, could not sleep or retain anything on her stomach, and we thought it only a question of time when life would be compelled to give way to the fell destroyer, After all other ramedies failed, we got:

Brewer's Lung Restorer And began it in very small doses, as she wa yery weak. She soon began to improve; con-tinued the remedy and was restored to life and health, and is to-day better than she has ever been before. I regard her restoration as nearly a miracle, for which she is indebted to BREWER'S LUNG RESTORER.

A Tragedy in Which a Negro is Shot by Another and tily Killed-Injured by Falling Fimi harlie Irvine's Burglar-Franken-berg's Punishment-Personal, Etc.

Macon, Ga., August 1.—[Special.]—A tragedy by which one negro lost his life at the hands of another, occurred in Wilkinson county yesterday

Zack Edwards, the murdered man, was note in the county as a desperate character. He had frequently been engaged in savage fights, generally coming out of them unburt. The man that hilled him, Louis Hart, has the reputation of being peaceable, and has never been known to have a serious difficulty before.

A dispute about a trivial matter arose between the two on the plantation of a Mr. Balkcom, who has two brothers living in Macon. Edwards drew a knife and threatened to kill Hart. The latter, armed with a shotgun, told Edwards to keep back

"Shoot and be d - d." Edwards replied: "I'm not going to be bluffed by a no count nig like

He then advanced upon Hart, his knife uplifted, ready to strike.

Hart raised his gun, which was loaded with bird shot, and fired both barrels into his assailant. The latter sank to the ground, exclaiming: "I'm deads man! Jesus have mercy on my soul!" and immediately expired.

Hart made no attempt to escape, and was soon alterwards arrested.

DANGEROUSLY CUT BY HER HUSBAND. JESUP, Ga., August 1.—[Special.]—The particu-lars of an affair by which a printer named Frankenberg came near losing his life, have jus been made public.

A man named Jackson, the hostler of the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia railroad, at this point, has a young and pretty wife. Frankenberg boarded at the same house with the Jacksons, and upon several occasions made himself obnoxious to the lady by intently staring at her. He also made some advances to her, supposed to have been of an improper nature. Mrs. Jackson took no notice of the fellow. Tuesday night Frankenbers, made his notice of the fellow.

Tuesday night Frankenberg made his way to Mrs. Jackson's room, while her husband was away, and attempted, to enter. He was repulsed, and Jackson was sent for. When the latter arrived he hunted Frankenberg, and drawing a knife, cut him across the abdomen.

The wound is a very serious one, and Frankenberg's condition is considered critical.

THE SOBER RECORD.

What Prohibition Has Done for Dalton in a Few Months. DALTON, Ga., August 1 .- [Special.] -Since prohibition in Whitfield county property, in the Dalton district alone, has increased about $125,000, that is during the past year, notwithstanding the pressure of hard times. About one hundred voters, representing a population of five hundred increase, have been added to the county. Not a valuable citizen has removed from the city on account of the absence of liquor, while a number of men who were formerly beggaring their families, or who were supported by their wives and friends, have gone to work way improving on their past status. One of our most prominent business men, formerly opposed to prohibition upon business principles, has become a strong advocate of the policy, because the of liquor has largely and substantially added to his business. This is the testimony others of like authority and reliability in their position and statements. Our schools, colleges and churches are far purer and in a more flourish ing condition, and society stands upon a much higher place. The above figures are drawn from tax reports and digests, and in a little while we will give them more accurately in a tabulated

Fence Controversy in Elbert. ELBERTON, Ga., August 1. - [Special.] - Next Monday being the day set for a hearing on the ontested stock law election question, before the ordinary, a very large crowd was expected in town; but yesterday Judge Lumpkin granted a restraining order, based on a bill filed by the fence party, praying for a writ of prohibition to pro-hibit the ordinary from declaring the result of the election. So the whole matter will remain as it now stands until the September term of our supe-rior court.

what was it moved us so? A few noble hearts made up a purse for the widow and her children, but he one thought of two other widows whose husbands had gone over the night before. Ten thousand men were shot down in a single battle and their widows and orphans mourn in silence and have few comforters; but here was the man on the log absorbing the intensest feelings of forty thousand people who would have given more to save him than they had given away in charity all their lives.

The long, lingering illness of General Grant, and the daily bulletins of every minute circumstance, had intensified the public interest in him. It was not because he was a statesman or a great discoverer, or a genius, or a man of great thought, or even a Christian soldier like Havelock, but simply because he was the man of deatiny. It was not even because of exalted patriotism, for like many other west Pointers he hardly knew which side to take in the struggle and hardly cared, provided honors were easy. It was the honors that turned the scale with many of them. Patriotism and enthusiasm came afterwards. This was natural and not unreasonable, for it was a war among brethren, and patriotism was not such an element in the fight as it is in a war with another nation. It was a family quarrel. The "chip on the hat" had been knocked off. General Grant was kind to the south after the war, and he was as brave as he was kind.

Deathbeds—A Visit of Years Ago to Ningars—An Affecting Scene.

[Copyright, 1885. All rights reserved.] Your editorial on General Grant was a mar rel of calm, considerate, comprehensive truth. It was altogether satisfying to the southern

It was altogether satisfying to the southern mind. It was liberal and just and kind. His most devoted friends could not complain of it, nor his bitterest foes find fault. I have never seen an obituary of a notable man that told so much so well, and in such briefspace. I have put it away in my scrapbook as a model.

Our emotional nature is a curious study. Sometimes it dethrones reason and absorbs us. There is a magnetism about it that is contagious and sways the multitude and increases in power as it goes from one to another. The death of General Grant was but the death of aman. Thousands are dying every week all death of General Grant was but the death of a man. Thousands are dying every week all over the land who are just as true, as honest, as brave, as noble, in heart and excite no attention, no sympathy outside of a little circle. Circumstance had not made them notable. They passed away in humble life. They fought the battle of life as heroically as he did. They were just as dear to their families, weeping wife and children stood around and watched the last agonies and smoothed the pallid brow and dropped their tears in silence. The mantle clock ticked all the same and told the approach of death as surely as it did at Mt. McGregor, but the great world knew it not and cared not But all of these meet across the river, where neither pageantry nor pomp of power avails anything, where all are equal before their Maker—the humble and the great. Death is a mighty leveler, and the best obstuary is to write—

"How blest the righteous when he dies, When sinks the weary soul to rest; How mildly beam the closing eyes, How gently heaves the expiring breast." How gently heaves the expiring breast."

The magnetism of sympathy is wonderful. Some thirty years ago, my wife and I arrived at Niagara falls, quite early one summer morning, and were surprised to find no one to receive us at the great hotel that had a thousand guests. The hotel was empty. The lovely verandahs were deserted. There was nobody in the streets. A servant told us that there was a man on the log just above the brink of the falls, and everybody had gone there. Breakfast had not been served. There was sensation in the air, and we caught it and felt it and hurried down to the rushing, roaring river and joined the we caught it and left it and nurried down to the rushing, rearing river and joined the multitude of excited sympathetic people. The intensified gaze of ten thousand people was centered upon a common object—the man on the log. Nobody knew his name or cared to know. He was a man in peril. His boat with two companions had the night before drifted into the current and hern horne down drifted into the current and been borne down before they knew it into the rushing, leaping waters. They had gone over, but he had jumped to the log—the end of a log that some great flood had lodged in an invisible crevice just above the brink and the end was a few feet out of the water and pointing up the stream. All around water and pointing up the stream. All around him was the surging waters. Just below him was the glassy brink of that awful precipice. Upon the bank was his wife, an humble woman, with her little children weeping and pleading for his rescue. Some bold, leading spirits soon organized a plan and sent a lifeboat down. They stood was the best down. pirits soon organized a plan and sent a life-boat down. They stood upon the bridge boat down. They stood upon the bridge above and strong men held the ropes, some on the bridge and some on either shore. But it was nothing but a feather in the whirling waves. Over and over it spun around like the toy of a child. Then they sent to Buffalo for two larger ones and fastened them together and tried them, but they were wrecked upon the rocks long before they reached in which hreathless interest are spully watched and waited and sighed, almost with despair as effort after effort failed. Suddenly a man raised high his arm and shouted, "I will give a hundred dollars to any body who will save that man!" This was but the signal of the outburst of pent up emotions, the signal of the outburst of pent up emo the signal of the outburst of pent up emotions, for another exclaimed, "Another hundred!" "I will give another!" and all through the vast crowd the cry was echoed until the sum would have reached ten thousand dollars. Some well the sum would have reached ten thousand dollars. Some well known civil engineer was then put in charge and he built a raft of logs—heavy logs—a raft some thirty feet square and all chained tegether with huge chains. That, too, was let down. Strong ropes like cables were fastened to it and strong men from the bridge and both shores warned them. and both shores manned them. Slowly and was let down. Strong ropes like cables were fastened to it and strong men from the bridge and both shores manned them. Slowly and surely it floated upon the billows, now heaving now toesing, but still uppermost. As it safely rode over the whirlpool and reef or would strike the rocks and be guyed away and start again the shouts and cheers of the people were tumultuous and unrestrained. The long long day was now declining, nobody had thought of breakfast or dinner. A burning sun came shining down, but there was no thought of food or shade or shelter, for there was the poor man on the log and he had none. For thirty hours he had not tasted food. In the meantime the vast multitude had grown, for every train brought its thousands from the adjacent country, and the interest increased with every moment. At last, at last, the rait had reached the log, and was held against it by the guys. With prayerful hands upraised towards Heaven the man leaped upon the raft, and felt that he was safe. With one mighty shout that was louder than the roar of the cataract, the people rent the air; strong men wept like children; women fell down fainting with joy. Everybody cried. We all cried, for we could not help it, and strangers all unknown to one another shook hands and embraced. I never will forget that scene. With what breathless eager silence did we watch the next move, the pulling the raft to Gost island. Safely it passed over the mightiest reefs and was within a hundred feet of the shore when it was convulsively drawn into the vortex of a whirlpool and the lower end thrown up to a perpendicular. The man lost his hold, and in a moment—one awful moment—was thrown from the ratt into the devouring waters and was gone. The sigh of the multitude was heart rending. Hundreds sank down with grief and looked no more upon the scene. In a moment—one awful moment—was thrown if the heaven and with hands upraised and clasped, he took the awful leap.

Not a word was said by any one—not a shriek, but soon the reaction from long and me what it was, and probably I never would have a nown, had I not seen the advertisement in your valuable paper. First, it is a scaly affection of the skin; next, it looks like barnacles on a vessel's bottom, or an old log that has laid in the water for a long time; and just the same in my feet, knees and elbows, and by taking a microscope and looking at me it looks worse. In other words, we will call it ICHTHYOSIS, OR FISH SKIN; then comes on what I call the wild burning itch, that will strike you with a thousand electric itchy needles. You cannot tell where to scratch first. You then have to run out into the open air to get relieved. Why, it is dreadful, and having so many eminent doctors and none knowing what to do for you; but I have found the lost treasure at last. It did not take two spoonfuls of the

So would have been any other West Pointer, for they are soldiers and have a soldier's honor. So would have been McClellan or Buell or Resecrans or Hancock. Grant was willing to be dictator, and so would they have been hall military men love power. They command to be obeyed. They do not appreciate civil government like civilians. The are educated to be self-willed and self-reliant. General Andrew Jackson was so and so was Jefterson Davis. West Pointers are all so, and so are commodores in the navy. It is human nature to love dominion, and these men were trained to exact obedience from their inferiors. A professional soldier can hardly be less than a tyrant. Generals Johnston and Longstreet are good men and great men, but they writhe under opposition. If the south had whipped the fight these men would have remained in front, and some of our notable civilians would have taken a back seat.

It is curious what honors are paid to fighting men. Successful generals get their rewards and get them quickly. But it took long years for honors to come to Gallileo and Kepler and Newton and Watts and Wesley and Bunyan and Milton. The first fade and the last grew brighter with age. Fighting is of the earth earthy—it is doggish—yet it is just human. Most everybody likes to see a dog fight—Sam Jones wouldn't go around one. I saw two little boys the other day leaning intently over a block of wood, and I found they were fighting ants—big black ants, and they were delighted at the sport. I never knew that ants would fight each other before. When these boys get a little larger they will be fighting chickens and dogs, and perhaps take a hand themselves occasionally.

A friend in New York, who is connected with the Tribune, writes me that Grant's obituary has been written for months and put in with the Tribune, writes me that Grant's obituary has been written for months and put in type waiting for the hero to die. That is very well I think. A notable man should be written up while he lives or some months after he dies. The nation is now on a sensation and all his weaknesses are forgotten. Never-theless, he was a hero and he showed his heroism most when writing his history of the war with the death rattle in his throat.

Why persist in ruining your digestion by eating unwholesome food; and keeping it ruined by doing nothing to restore it to usefulness and right action? Some think that dyspepsia is incurable. They are the ones who have never taken Brown's Iron Bitters. This valuable family medicine makes short work of the tormentor and soon enables the digestive apparatus to do its work. Mr. H. E. Collins, of Keokuk, Iowa, says, "I used Brown's Iron Bitters for dyspepsia, and am greatly benefited."

PROVEMENT OF SAVANNAH Mondred and Eigsty-Eight Fourth-Class Fostmasters Appothned Yesterday - A Detailt-ing Postmaster to be Extradited From Canada and the Money Returned,

WASHINGTON, August 1.—General Q. A. Imore has submitted his annual report the improvement of rivers and har-in South Carolina, Georgia and Florto General Newton, chief of engineers. work carried on at the harbor of Charles a, S. C., including Sullivan's island, it is signed to establish and maintain by means ies, a low water channel of not less than nty-one feet depth scross the bar, upon ich the greatest depth heretofore has been ly 111/2 feet. During the past fiscal year 152.963 was expended on this work, leaving 7.267 available. General Gilmore says that the whole the results of erations are highly satisfactory, as inoperations are operations are operations the development of securing velocity reen the jetties, although, neither jetty reached, by several feet, the last height ontemplated in the project. He further says that the jettica arising before the high water level are believed to be not only unnecessary that unanitable for this locality and this will considerably cheapen the work of improvement. He reaffirms his confidence in the ability of these works when completed, to maintain a deep navigable channel across the bar, and says adverse criticisms on the efficiency of submerged jettics have no application to Charleston harbor. Some work will scon have to be done to alop the enlargement of Hog Island channel, but no appropriation to this purpose is recommended at present. The incroachment of the sea at Mount Pleasant, report says, is a private concern which cannot properly be naid for one concern which cannot properly be paid for out of the funds appropriated for improving Charleston harbor. It is estimated that $1,712,7500 will be required for the completion of the existing project, and $750,000 is asked for the next fiscal year.

No operations were carried on during the year at Wappoo cut, South Carolina, and $5,027 remains available. An appropriation of $15,000 is asked for next year, with which it is estimated the work can be completed. For the improvement of Ashley river, South Carolina, but $30 was expended during the past fiscal year and $2,054 remains available. $1,000 will be required to complete the work and is asked for the next fiscal year. $6,490 were expended during the year on Ediato river, South Carolina, leaving $370 available. It is estimated that $20,384 will be required to complete the work and that $10,000 could be profitably expended during the next fiscal year. The improvement of Ealkiehatchie river, South Carolina, during the past fiscal year cost $4,269 and $41 remains available. An appropriation of 10,000 is asked for the next fiscal year, which is expected will complete the improvement For the improvement of the SAVANNAH HARBOR AND RIVER, 2210,074 was available July 5, 1884, and $150,-88 of that smount has been expended during the past fiscal year. The improvement contemplates a depth of twenty-twe feet from the bar up to the city and the widening of the channel of the river opposite Savannah to 600 feet, and other improvements. The present condition of the Savannah river and harbor is expected, as being on the whole year, satisfacreported as being on the whole very satisfactory and better than a any torner period.

The work to be done during the present facal year will consist of dredging and raising and repairing dams. It is estimated that $330,000 will be required for the completion of the work, all of which amount could be profitably expended during the next fiscal

For the improvement of the Savannah river between Savannah and Augusta, Ga., $15,530 were expended during the past fiscal year, leaving $514 available; $36,000, it is estimated, rill complete the improvement, and could be profitably expended during the next fiscal year. Nothing was done towards the improvement of the Savannah river above Au-usta, Ga., and $877 still remains available. The sum that could be profitably expended luring the next fiscal year is $6,000 and would complete the improvement.

There appears to be no necessity for any further improvement of Saint Augustine Creek, Ga. No work was done during the past fiscal year, and $3,417 nains available

The sum of $3,847 remains available for the inprovemen of Romely Marsh, Ga. After the spenditure of $0,186 during the past fiscal, ear $14,000 it is estimated will complete the ect and is requested for the next fiscal Twelve thousand, six hundred and forty Twelve thousand, six hundred and forty dollers was expended on the improvement of the Altameha river, Georgis, during the past fiscal year, leaving $2,914 available. Forty thousand could be profitably expended during the next fiscal year, and it is thought would complete the work of improvement. Cnly $389 remains available for the improvement of Brunswick harbor, Ga., after the expenditure of $9,850 during the past fiscal year. The Brunswick harbor, Ga., after the expenditure of $9,860 during the past fiscal year. The object of the improvement is to establish and maintain a ship channel of fifteen feet depth at low water through the shoal situated a mile below Brunswitk. It is estimated that $75,000 will secure this result and could be profitably expended during the next fiscal year. On the improvement of the entrance to Cumberland Sound, Florida and Georgia, $72,115 was expended during the past fiscal year and $3,698 remains available. It is expected by means of jesties to maintain a low water channel not less than twenty feet deep through the entrance to the channel in place of the present depth of thirteen feet. The amount remaining available is too small to be used during the next fiscal year. As the present rate of progress the report says that thirty to fear water will be required to to be used during the next fiscal year. As the present rate of progress the report says that thirty to forty years will be required to complete the prospect and it is recommended that $600,000 of $1,807,023 necessary to complete the improvement be appropriated as soon as practicable. No work has been done during the past-facal year on the improvement of the inside passage between kernandina and St. Johns river, Florida, and $4,33 still remains available. No appropriation is asked for the next fiscal year.

C., including Sullivan's island, it is signed to establish and maintain by means ies, a low water channel of not less than enty-one feet depth across the bar, upon shich the greatest depth heretofore has been 111/2 feet. During the past fiscal year 152,963 was expended on this work, leaving

97,267 available. General Gilmore says that at the whole the results of the operations are highly satisfactory, as indiesting the development of securing velocity etween the jetties, although, neither jetty reached, by several feet, the last height contemplated in the project. He further says that the jetties arising before the high water level are believed to be not only unnecessary but unsuitable for this locality and this will considerably cheapen the work rovement. He reaffirms his e in tue ability of these works when completed, to maintain a deep navigable channel across the bar, and says adverse criticisms on the efficiency of submerged jet-ties have no application to Charleston har-Some work will soon have to be done to

WHITNEY IS SURPRISED That the Naval Advisory Board Should Have

Recommended the Dolphin. WASHINGTON, August 1 .- Secretary Whitney this afternoon made public the criticisms of the naval advisory board upon the report of the Dolphin board of examiners, together with the reply of the latter. In regard to the delay in giving ou the criticisms the secretary remarked today that the usval advisory board declined to unite with him in asking fo board declined to unite with him in asking for the trials; that he appointed the examining board and initiated the examination; that naval custom and propriety required criticism for their reply before making them public; that the reply was received only yesterday and that he thereupon, yesterday, ordered both the documents to be given to the press today. He also yesterday addressed to Admiral Simpson the following letter:

be given to the press today. He also yezierday addressed to Admiral Simpson the following letter:

NAVY DEPARTMENT, Washington, July 31, 1885—Sir: I acknowledge the receipt of the communication of the naval advisory board of July 15, conveying the criticisms of the report of the examining board upon the Dolphin, with the request that the same should be given equal publicity with their report. I have caused the same to be printed and send you herewith twenty copies for such use as you may choose to make of them, and shall give the matter to the newspapers to morrow. I can but express my surprise that your board should have certified the vessel to me for acceptance with so many admitted defects as are shown by the report to have existed. Very respectfully.

W. C. WHITNEY, Secretary of NAVY. To Rear Admiral G. Simpson, U. S. N., President of Naval Advisory Board.

The advisory board begin their statement by quoting, in extense, the criticisms of the examiners on the structural strength of the Dolphin. They say that the statements clearly bring against the Dolphin the most serious charge of structural weakness, due to faulty design and aggravated by defective work manship.

This evidence is presented and distinctly attributed to the lack of structural strength, yet, in closing their report they state that they regret that the matter rests upon their opinion, and that nothing short of a trial at sea for some time in rough water can satisfactorily determine her strength or weakness.

We low propose to show that the Dolphin is a strong stanned vessel, and the above opinion was formed in utter absence of positive evidence and could not be derived from the examination of facts."

The showing which follows is elaborate and technical and concludes with could not be derived from the examination of facts."

The showing which follows is elaborate and technical and concludes with the affirmation that compared with other vessels, the Dolphin is exceptionally strong, structurally. In regard to the speed of the vessel, the advisory board say that the speed being entirely dependent upon the design of the vessel, it was not included in any stipulations in the contract, and the whole responsibility for it rests upon the designers.

The examining board in their rejoinder say that the defense of the vessel and her builder by the advisory board is as good as could be made under the circumstances, but from some of the lacts stated they draw very different conclusions. The examiners reiterate their former assertion, that the vessel is weak structurally, without regrad to what she ought to have been by her design, and that she shows weakness beyond what is properly charselve in her plans. chargable to her plans.

THE PACIFIC MAIL TROUBLE.

The South American Steamers Leave SAN FRANCISCO, August 1.—The difficulty be-tween the Pacific Mail steamand company and the Washington postal authorities culminated this morning in the abrupt refusal by the company to morning in the abrupt refusal by the company to carry the mails for Central and South American ports excepting those for Mexico and Costal Rica Ifrom (which countries Pacific mail receives subsidies. The refusal was brought about by Postmaster Backus sending the mail consisting of thirty-five bags to the company's office in charge of a clerk who had been instructed to proceed aboard the steamer Colime with the mail as baggage. This action was taken by the direction of pastmaster general. The company's officers knowing the contents of the bags, declined to receive them as baggage unless they were separately checked, and the passage of the agental paid to each point of embarkation.

THE TORIES MAD

THEY DON'T LIKE CONSERVATIVE UNISON WITH THE IRISH.

Lord Randolph Churchill to go Before His Liver pool Partisans and Tell Why They Did R-Churchill Still Stubborn-His air Cas-tles for the Puture-Foreign News.

LORDON, August 1 .- Although the electoral campaign is about to open, both political parties are still in search of a definite programme of party action. Developments of the past week have disclosed an immense rupture in the conservative party. This has been caused through discontent of the old tories, who constitute the vast bulk of the party. They believe the present conservative leaders have been going too far in their efforts to propitiate the Parnellites and secure them as allies. Remenstrances have been sent to the marquis of Salisbury from nearly all provincial tory elecion agents.

These remonstrances, added to the protests of the conservative members of parliament, have been made the subject of the cabinet discussion. The result is that lord RANDOLPH GRURCHILL HAS SUBMITTED to party discipline. He has agreed to take an humbler public rate, and has engaged to go before his angry and disconciling go before his angry and disappointed party collesgues in Liverpool and explain to them and attempt to justify his relation with the Irish home rulers. Ho his relation with the Irish nome rulers. He has also consented to go on an electioneering tour under the direction of the marquis of Salisbury. Lord Randelph is stubboru, however, and has not surrendared unconditionally.

ever, and has not surrendared unconditionally. He has secured the consent of his more aged party managers to advocate the conservative policy, which will embrace the local government reform, and reform the British land laws. It is true that these terms are very general, but it may be safely predicted that having committed his party to an open advocacy of local self-government and land laws reform, Lord Randolph will, in his own good time secure the adnesion of the young conservatives to a decidedly particular and radical application of the same principles. He will then trade, that is, he will merge his following with that of Parnell and Chamberlain, snap his fingers at Lord Salisbury, and the enap his fingers at Lord Salisbury, and the "old fogies," and go in for leadership on his

As bad off, positively, as the tories seem to be, the liberals appear to be in a worse condi-tion. They have, it seems, small prospects of securing amity of conduct among their clansmen in the coming elections, and smaller prospects still of agreeing on a party cry.

Mr. Brett, secretary to the marquis of Hartington, Gladstone's minister for war, caused more or less political excitement the ther day by writing a public letter deploris the lack of party unity among the liberals and insisting upon the necessity of the party joining in a formal declaration of policy. It is now said that Brett's action was undertaken with the design of drawing Gladstone out and inducing him to speak. But the "grand old man" refuses to speak. He refuses to reformate a policy for his distracted party, despite the constant representations of his colleagues that it is time to proclaim the principles on which he means to appeal in elec-

Trevelyan, who was the liberal chancellor of the duchy of Lancaster, John Morley and a large number of other radicals of their school have outlined a political platform which they urge the liberal party lo adopt. It demands sconded, has been traced to Leith, and it is now supposed that he has sailed thence to Norway, where he would be beyond reach of extradition laws. Enquiry shows that he took with him between $50.00 and $75,000 in cash and negotiable paper. He had, before his flight, for a long time, been a heavy loser in speculations on the London stock exchange. Farquharson at the time of the collapse of the Munster bank was nagaged to be married to a daughter of a rich and well known Dublin brewer. The wedding day was fixed for the end of August. Farquharson had purchased, for $25,000, a beautiful cottage on Leeson park, and had furnished it in gorgeous style. It is now certain that when the crusis came in the affatrs of the Munster bank, Farquharson attempted to conceal his associative by forcing liquidation proceedings in the alleged interest of Dublin shareholders.

He had field a petition praying for liquidation proceedings, and it had some on he would by in the alleged interest of Dublin shareholders.

The Cork committee of shareholders were suspicious of the Dublin proceed figs and opposed them. Farquianson thereupon concluded that his game was played and he ran away. The assistant, whom some months ago, he had arrested for an alleged theft of $25.000 from the Dublin branch of the babk, it is now known, was ignocent and was sacificed to cover up his superior's robberies. The assistant will be reinstated in the reconstructed Munster Pank.

A GREAT PEAST.

Oxford's Magnificent Barbecue-The Town Covers Herself With Glory. Oxford, Ala., August 1 .- Yesterday was indeed a gala day for Oxford. Early in the morning people began to arrive in wagons, carts, buggles, on horseback and multitudes even came atoot many miles to partake of Oxford's hospitality. By eight o'clock the town was thronged with people, and still they poured in constant, surging stream from every quarter and by every means of convey-ance. The street cars from Anniston were packed and jammed with liv-ing freight the whole day through. Clay, Randolph, Cleburne, Talladega and Calho

Clay, Randolph, Cleburre, Talladega and Calhout counties were numerously represented and large numbers came from distant points, many ever from Georgia and other states. Atlanta was represented by a number of her most enterprising business men. At ten eclock's grand procession was formed on the public square, and led by the Oxford cornet band marched down Choccoloccustreet to College avenue, and up the avenue to the magnificent grove, selected and prepared for the occasion. A grand stand had been erected and seats ranged around it in amphitheater style, and here the vast concourse opeople assembled for the speaking. After several lively aims from the band, the mayor delivered a cordial welcome to one and all, after which came the address of Colonel John W. Bishop, the oration of the day. His address was elequent and well timed, and made a fine impression upon the vast audience. He reviewed the history of Oxford, and marked her wonderful progress since the close of the war, when it was nothing more than an insignificant yillinge without a single enterprise.

He was followed by Revs, Mabry and Wright, Kelley and Williams in brief and spirited addresses, interspersed with elegant music. Dinner was then announced and the assembled multitude repaired to the tables, one thousand feet in length, and in the form of a square. The merchants and members of Oxford fire company were inside the square and assidious in their attentions to the people. As fast as the provisions disappeared from the tables, they were replenished until everybody, white and black, had eaten to their stomach's content. And notwithstanding the crowd was estimated at from five to ten thousand people, the jumply of provisions was amp e and more than sufficient for all Many baskets all remained of the fragments. This will not be a matter of astonishment when it is remembered that over one hundred carcasses of beed, kid, mutton, pork, etc., were barbecued. In the afternoon there was an excellent parade of freemen, more speaking, music, both instrumental and vocal, baseball game, etc. Nothwithstanding the immense crowd the day passed off without a single disturbance. No drunkenness nor rowdy ism was seen. It was a triumph for the enterprising people of Oxford and carrying with them hearts full of love and gratitude for the overflowing hospitality that had been extended to them.

RIEL FOUND GUILTY.

The Caradian Rebel sentenced to be Hang ed September 18th. WINNEPEG, Manitoba, August 1.-The jury in the Riel trial at Regina, were out about thirty minutes, when they returned a verdict of guilty. When it was made known in the court room that the jury in the Biel care had agreed as bustle and excitement, prayed fervently, kneeling all was Riel kneeling in his box and looked unmoved as the jury en tered with a verdict of guilty. Francis Cosgrove foreman, while crying like a child, answered tha he was asked by his fellow jurors to recommend the prisoner to the mercy of the crown. The judge said the recommendation would be considered. Riel was sentenced to be hanged on the 18th of September, at Regins Judge Richardson said he cauld hold out no pros pect of reprieve or interference her majesty. Riel took the result coolly. He had spoken two hours reviewing the trouble of 1869 and the half breed's grievances up to the present. It is not yet settled how the other half breed pris oners will be charged.

A DARING INCENDIARY.

A Plot to Burn a Tenement, Imperilling Hundreds of Lives.

New York, August 1.—Information of one of the most elaborate incendiary plots on record was served the police and fire headquarters today. The five story tenement, No. 26 Canal street, was found to be mined and fixed in the most thorough found to be mined and fixed in the most thorough manner with powder trains and fuse and shavings scaked in alcohol for a nocturnal conflagration that would have imperiled haifs hundred human lives. The plot miscarried by accident.

The proprictor of a barber's saloon on the first floor, an Italian, is suspected of being the culprit, and he has disappeared. The plot failed because the alcohol had evaporated and the rags and shavings amouldered long enough to give warning.

STRIKING MINERS. Two Thousand Men to Walk Out if Their Demands are not Allowed. ong the miners at the mines of the Dayton Coal and Iron company today, assumed a very serious aspect. The miners refused to accept a reduction of 121/2 per cent in wages six weeks since, and have scorned ever proposition for a compromise offered by the company. They are backed by the Knights of Labor, and today they intimate that if the company do not give them intimate that if the company do not give them employment at their former wages, they will compel every man engaged in building the two furnaces to quit work. The striking miners refused to allow a new force of miners to eater the mine and threatened them with death. A committee will visit all the mines in the district, numbering a dozen soon, and endeavor to induce the miners to join them in the strike. If they succeed fully two thousand men will go out. AN OLD TIME FEAST.

THE PEOPLE OF SEVERAL COUN-TIES MEET IN JONESBORO.

The Biggest Sarbrone of the Season-Hundreds

The Sumptuous Tables-The Speakers of the Day-General Notes.

JONESBORO, Ga., August 1.—[Special.]—The Clay-ton County Agricultural and Industrial amocia-tion held its first annual meeting and barbecne today. The weather was propitious and every-thing favorable to a day of enjoyment. Visitors began coming in at an early hour, in wagons, carriages, buggies, on horseback, and on foot, and by 10 o'clock the little town was filled with representatives from the neighboring country.
Distinguished visitors from adjacent counties were present in large numbers to do justice to the hospitality of the citizens of Jonesboro.

The crowd amused themselves according to darkey, roosting on fences and logs, reveled in the culged in luxurious stretches on the grass under the full blaze the tropical sun. Drunkenness, generally a prominent feature in such gatherings, was no absent here, Jonesboro having been a prohibitio town for the past two years. At ten o'clock

THE ASSOCIATION CONVENED in College hall, and was called to order by President J. W. Storey. Colonel T. C. Spence, in an elequent address, spoke of the object of the association, and exended to the visitors the hospitalities of the town. He then introduced to the sudience Hon. W. J. Northen, editor of the Southern Cultivator, who made a very appropriate address. He urged the concen-tration of area cultivated, and the introduction of high grade cattle. He prophesied a new era in farming and avowed the dignity of the profes-sion.

In a grace catle. He prophesied a new era in faiming and avowed the dignity of the profession.

Colonel Spence then introfueed Hon. Thomas Hardeman, who made a very telling speech in his usual happy style. He urged the necessity of making farms self-sustaining.

Judge John D. Stewart was next introduced. He spoke of the inexpacity of southern labor and the want of co-operation and mutual assistance evidenced by southern farmers.

The morning session them adjourned and the entire assemblage proceeded to a neighboring grove where an old fashioned barbecue had been prepared. And what a barbecue it was The very almosphere was laden with savoty odors of best lamb, kid, shoat and other edibles. Bread and cakes of every description, preserves, pickies, all the fruits of the season, and wonderful results in pastry were heaped in cadless profusion upon the ample tables. Formality was thrown aside and everybody seemed bent on having a good old fashioned country froite. Tom Hardeman was seen with a potato ple in one hand and a mammoth slice of Georgia water melon in the other, seeking for a cool place. Judge Stewart, with coat off and sleeves rolled up, was brushing flies and carving barbecued aboat.

It is estimated that over twolthousand people par-

It is estimated that over two!thousand people partock of the hospitality of the association; yet the best of order was preserved throughout the whole of the ceremonies. It was a quaint, picturesque scene, never to be forgotten—the great crowd bright hues of various coloring to the picture. Sweet strains of music floated through the grove and mingled with the merry laughter of the guests. When all had eaten to their heart's content, the crowd dispersed and left the tables to the horde of darkies, who had been viewing the feast from the outskirts of the grove, with anxious anticipation in their faces.

At two o'clock the meeting was reconvened with prayer by Judge Stewart. Colonel J. L. Doyle introduced Hon. J. H. Traylor, senator from Troup, who in a very neat speech told what he knew about farming.

The isst speech of the evening was made by Captain E. F. Howell, whose many anecdotes elicited much laughter from the audience.

The president of the association, Mr. J. W. Storey, then read the names of the successful contestantants for premiums, as follows:

For best cotton, corn, onlons and cabbage, to E. For best apples, to R. W. Mundy.

A GOOD SUGGESTION, A Desire for the Governor to Fitty Honor

A Desire for the Governor to Fitty Romor General Grant's Funoral.

AUGUSTA., Ga., August 1.—[Special.]—A strong sentiment is expressed in Augusta in favor of the state of Georgia doing fitting honor to the memory of General Grant in observing the day of his funeral by a general suspension of business, and it is hoped that Governor McDaniel will take the lead in the southern states by issuing a suitable proclamation to this effect.

Favorable comment is made here on a similar scrien on the part of northern states, and other southern states, and other southern states, and other southern states, and decreased a second state in recognizing the claims of the great dead to a national tribute would be appreciated here and it would touch the heart of the north as nothing else has done in the long days of his andering or in the hour of his death.

White Women Attack Another, and Hee Husband is Killed While Defeeding fler. FORT GAINES, Gn . August 1 -[Special.]-At an early hour this morning a homicide was committed at J. H. Hancock's mill, about four miles from this place.

The original cause of the difficulty has not been ascertained, but it appears that three white women essaulted the wife of Mr. William Willrons, in her own house, and while endeavoring o protect his wife he was shot and instantly killed by a man named Willis Hudson. The load from the gun passed through the heart. Both men were living at Mr. Hancock's. The three women who made the assault on Mrs. Willirons were related in some way to Hudson, who instill at large.

EDY ADKINS,

THE STORY OF A SLAVE.

BY R. M. JOHNSTON, Author of "Old Mark Langston," "The Duke borough Tales," etc. [Copyrighted 1885 by S. S. McClure, All rights

"Thine eyes are upon me and I am not."-Job As a class the overseers upon a plantation at the south in slavery times were not regarded specially desirable as hirers of the negroes of others. Habitual arbitrary rule over all sorts of servants led many of them to appear too inconsiderate of what was felt by most humane and thoughtful persons to be due to beings wholly dependent upon the superior race. Perhaps the wives among this class were yet more objectionable in this respect. As a rule, therefore, negroes thus situated were of shabby appearance and qualities below the average, whom their owners had et go for inconsiderable wage. Edy, a woman belonging to Mr. John Adkins, a prosperous, rather parsimonious planter on Rocky Comfort creek, was hired to Beverly Sheals, his overseer. She had been purchased Sheals, his overseer. She had been purchased only a year before from a Virginia negro trader. She was small, grum in looks, sullen in deportment, and though reserved in speech, regarded very resentful of wrong, real or imaginary. Yet, unattractive as she was, she had gotten a husband; a tall, powerful African named Shade, the property of Mr. Elias Gage, who dwelt some four miles further down the creek. The husband was much prized by his master, and bore in the neighborhoed a good name for honesty and industry. If he sometimes went off to his wite's house on other nights than Saturdays, this was known to be not uncommon among negro was known to be not uncommon among negro men of good repute otherwise, and he was sel-dom molested by "paterollers," as were called small squads of white men who occasionally went out at night on patrol.

Sheals stood well in the community, not only as a good manager, but as a man of un-common thrift in the care of his own means. Now, at thirty five, he had some three usand dollars at interest, and it was known that his expectation was to purchase a planta-tion after a year or so longer, and renouncing his present occupation, begin planting on his

His wife was thought to be hard to please. Once pretty, she was so no longer, and besides was untidy in dress and slouched in gait. was untidy in dress and slouched in gait. Many women in her condition kept no servants, easily doing their own domestic work. But Mr. Sheals thought he could not afford to go with his meals often uncertain, habitually late, and sometimes be pressed for clothes suitable to put on Sunday mornings. A mild mannered man, he had never quarreled with his wife except when challenged by her provoking complainings. He quietly hired for her a woman every year. I say every year, for the rule in such cases was that at the end of any one year Mrs. Sheals could not endure the help, or the help could not endure Mrs. Sheals longer and a change had to be made, the last when Edy Adkins came. the last when Edy Adkins came.

As usual, the relations between mistress and maid were rather disagreeable. Edy was not specially neglectful of her work, and in neatness, considering their difference in opportunities and obligations, may have been said to be more than equal to her mistress. Mrs. Sheals, however, had claimed to foresee that the woman was worthless, otherwise she would not have gotten her, and of course such foresight must be realized. There were perhaps few condi-tions of social life less happy in daily details than that in which these women lived. In than that in which these women lived. In one respect the negro had the advantage. She was only a negro, and dull or presumed to be dull in sensibility, and beyond all possibility of loss in the matter of social position. What sufferings she had endured in the flesh were from the light flogging that Sheals, at the instigation of his wife, had inflicted. These chastisements, administered with reluctance by one who believed that for the most part, they were not deserved, were declared by the wife to be such as made the wretch more and more worthless. This declaration was made with special asperity one morning to the husband, as he was about leaving the house for the field after an injunction to do, if he pleased, take that hussy out and give her a he cared more for a mean nigger's feelings than for those of his own lawful wile.

whar that nigger's to blame. You an' she may fight it out betwix yourselves."

This enraged her beyond endurance. No sconer was her husband gone, than seizing the cow hide she rushed to the kitchen, and before Edy was aware of her intentions, struck her violently over her shoulders, which, being bare, bled freely under the keen whip. Edy, at the moment had in her bands the fire tongs. For a moment she glared like a demon as she raised the instrument. Her assailant unappalled, said:

unappalled, said:

"Put them tongs down, you heifer, if you don't want to die before your time come."

Edy dropped the tongs, crossed her arms and without word or quiver took the rest of the chastisement. When it was over, she the chastisement. When it was over, she silently resumed her work.

"I jes' found out what the mean thing needed," said Mrs. Sheals to her husband two days afterwards, "it was a good whippin', an' which I give her. "Sally," said Mr. Sheals, when she had related the whole occurrence, "I advise you to mind how you treat that nigger; my 'pinions is, they's a right smart o' devil in her, little as

"There ain't no doubt about that, Beyerly Sheals; but it can be whipped out 'ith a cowhide, an' which look like you, a bein'a decent weman's husband, might be expected to be the one, which you never has been, to save his own lawful wife from such necessity. Ef I has to pertect myself agin' niggers, I'm goin' to do it, an' you know well enough that such talk, a tryin' to make me 'fraid o' niggers, special such as this here miserable scrap that you let ole Jack Adkins palm off on you, ain't a' goin' to make me do any different from what I been a' doin. When a 'oman finds herself onbehnownst married to a man that can't er won't pertect her—"

"She have to go it on her own hook have she?" Mr. Sheals filled the sentence when she pansed. "All right."

Indeed Edy did seem, even to her exacting mistress, to improve, rising yet earlier in the morning, lying down yet later at night and taking yet shorter recesses for her meals. Mrs. Sheals having known always that there was a great distance between herself and the man whom she had married, unaccountably to herself how, now revolved inwardly upon how strange it was that she should not have been the men and Mr. Sheals the woman, in which event, however, the distance would have been too vast, perhaps. So never mind, let it all go as it is.

On a Wednesday night not long afterwards Shade Gage came and remained until morn-There ain't no doubt about that, Beyerly too vest, perhaps. So never mind, let it all go as it is.

On a Wednesday night not long afterwards Shade Gage came and remained until morning. This visit was not known to the white people, as he had come late. After making the kitchen fire next morning and helping to tart the getting of breakfast, he left for his home, his wife accompanying him about a couple of hundreds of yards. Mr. Sheals having risen meanwhile, and called her without response from the back door, went into the kitchen, whence emerging a few moments afterwards, he was about to call loudly when Edy came hurrying back.

"Make huste with your breakfast Edy, I got to go to town today."

The meal was sent in abortly afterwards. Bheals being occupied in dressing himself suitably for a visit to town, his wife sat down alone. This was done in somewhat of a pet, as she had already waited full ten minutes beyond her usual time.

"Ef you ruther have cold coffee 'n hot coffee, Mr. Sheals, you can take it," she said, as she took her seat. Her first cup was already finished when he took the foot of the table and the wife was beginning on the second. Sae made him a cup and passed it. "Sally," said he, after taking a sip, "something wrong in this coffee."

"My Lord," she said, appalled, "I consated so at first; but I had a headache anyhow, and I concluded twern't nothin' but consate."
"By the Lords, it's—it's pizened!" he cried.
Rising instantly, he rushed to the kitchen, and without a word to the servant, he looked searchingly around, at length going into a small closet wherein stood the negro's bed. Raising the mattress and calling to her he pointed to a snuff bottle that lay there tightly corked.

"What's that, you devil?"
"It's my sugar bottle, Mr. Sheals; but how it come dar when it 'taint been more'n half a hour sence I so it in my chips. God-a'mighty in bab's..."

in heb'r.—"
At that moment a scream, pitcous as it was piercing, was heard. Sheals ran back into the house and Edy with utmost speed possible, made for the woods.

I reed not relate in detail the necessary

I need not relate in detail the necessary sequels, the recapture of Edy that night at the Gager, and the death two days afterward of Mrs. Sheals. The poor woman, before dying, had besought her husband's forgiveness for her own shortcomings, and for the friendless negro whom she admitted to have been provoked by herself to desperation. Much of her dying agony and of her husband's horror was toothed by the consolations and counsels of good old Mr. Sanford, of whose church they were members. The bereaved husband, sels of good old Mr. Sanford, of whose church they were members. The bereaved husband, when the death and the funeral were over, went sadly back to his duties, and in calmness awaited the operation of the law. Adkins, the owner of Edy, saying he was not going to pay for a dead nigger, refused to employ counsel, words and conduct that, notwithstanding the haironyness of the crime, were recarded by all words and conduct that, notwithstanding the heinousness of the crime, were regarded by all reflecting persons with some disgust. People could not but talk with some admiration of the young lawyer whom the court assigned to the defense, who, after several consultations with Edy and her husband, boldly announced in public, whenever the case was mentioned in his hearing, his belief in her incorner. But of course, as they know all nocence. But, of course, as they knew, all lawyers talked in that way, the younger they are, the more boldly. Edy protested her in-nocence of the deed, though she admitted to all whom she conversed with that she had all whom she conversed with that she had bated her employer, and many a time had wished her dead for her cruel treatment. Sheals, at the trial, pale, reserved, answered all questions calmly and without show of resentment, never once turning his eyes towards the defendant. II. Henceforth Sheals made his abode, like other unmarried overseers, with his employer. The latter, bewailing his pecuniary loss, was touched by an offer from Sheals to bear a portion. Unexpected as such an offer was, Mr. Adkins neither accepted presently nor declined. He had a daughter living upon a tract of land that he had set off to her upon her marriage to a husband who had died some months back, and he had been considered months back, and he had been considering what further provision should be made for her. It was probably the apparent fitness of things that gave rise to a report only a few weeks after the murder that the widower and widow, with the approbation of the latter's father, were at last thinking of Scaling consolution by their apparate. tion of the latter's father, were at last thinking of scaling consolation for their separate bereavement in the most natural of all ways. The day of execution was at hand. On a Tuesday morning before the fatal Friday, as he was riding over a path that ran along the fence of a field bounded there by a dense wood, Shade aprang suddenly from the thicket, seized the bridle rein and before the rider could ed the bridge rein and before the rider could recover from the surprise, caught him by the arm and dragged him to the ground. "Ab, Bill! a man's wife is his wife!" His face expressed such anguish that the other changed the subject. After they had parted, Sheais rode on to Mr. Adkins's, alighted and entered the small quilding wherein he slept, situated in a corner of the yard. In about half an hour, having put on his best clothes, he came forth, remounting his horse, and rode to Mr. Sanford's. After some renewed affectionate condolence from the old man and a brief phat on gridinary tapies. Sheals invited him to chat on ordinary topics, Sheals invited him to a walk for some special conversation. They left the house, and seated themselves at the foot of an oak on the hillside some rods from foot of an oak on the hillside some rods from the spring. Here they conversed for more than an hour. When they had returned, Mr. Sanford drew up two papers, both of which were signed by Sheals, and one was witnessed by Mrs. Sanford and her daughter.

"It's a power of attorney, my dears, that Brother Sheals has just made for me to attend to some business for him."

Immediately afterwards, having ordered his horse, he redressed himself, and taking his wife aside, informed her on what errand he was going, and enjoined silence upon her.

"I hope—oh I do hope, my dear husband, that something can be done for the ignorant creeter. But oh! Mr. Sanford, how poor Brer Shesls is to be pitied! He looks dreadful."

"God Almighty bless you, Beverly Sheals."
The Friday came. Every night Shade by concerted signals between himself and his wife, had learned that no news of any kind had come from Sheals. The crowds began pouring in at an early hour. By 10 o'clock there were as many as five thousand, the majority heavy pregrees, they having reached. ority being negroes, they having easily ob-tained permission to witness the dread punish-ment of such a crime. Moving hither and thither, gazing around esgerly with blood shot eyes, in his disguise, by none of the whites but by all of the blacks recognized, was Shade. Sheals was nowhere to be seen; Mr. Adkins, in abswer to inquiries concerning him, said that he had gotten leave of absence until Saturdsy, partly to attend to some business in the county lying next west, but mostly he suspected, to avoid this day's scene.

The gallows had been erected in front of the jail platform. Mr. Sanford, it was understood, was to make his last visit to the prisoner, and of his majesty of the laws, mounted his horse and rode away. The defendant's counsel was complimented for his pathetic appeal for the benefit to his client of any possible doubt, an was to make his last visit to the prisoner, and if she showed proper dispositions, to accompany her to the execution. He came in at about 8% o'clock, appearing jaded in body, but serene in countenance. Resting for awhile on the piazza of the hotel, where he had alighted, conversing calmly among the many who had been awaiting his coming, after a brief interval he inquired for the sheriff, and when the latter arrived the two welled to when the latter arrived the two walked to when the latter arrived the two walked together to the jail, followed by the crowds who

"My friends and fellow citizens—You have assembled today to witness the execution of the law upon a most grievous crime. I have prayed and so have come of you, I doubt not, that the lessons to be learned now may not be unprofitable to our souls. I think I know my unprofitable to our souls. I think I know my neighbors, my acquaintances and my country-men well enough to feel sure that although one expectation of their assembling here in such multitudes today will be disappointed, they will feel the solemn joy that I have in ren-dering renewed gratitude and praise to Al-mighty God who holds in His hands the is-sues of all our lives. The ways of God are not like our ways, forever blessed be His holy name! Three days ago, triends and fellow citizens, I came into knowledge of a fact that citizens, I came into knowledge of a fact that it will surprise all to hear, except the poor humble being to whose rescue He has come just in time to save. Immediately upon ascertaining that fact, I began a journey to the town of Milledgeville, where dwells the governor of this state. That governor is known personally to nearly every one of this vast congregation, all of his elders and equalc in age having known him from his childhood. On being made acquainted with what I had to communicate, his excellency has pronounced Edy Adkins—innocent of the charge for which she has been condemned. In another instant Shade, who had rushed up the steps, many at a bound, seized her in his powerful arms, threw her who had rushed up the steps, many at a bound, seized her in his powerful arms, threw her high up as if she were a young babe, and seating her upon his shoulder began the descent. Then arose a shout, both races simultaneous in its utterance, that sounded sufficient to rend the heavens, and that in very deed was heard at a distance of many miles. Long afterwards old men would talk of that day, and with overflowing eyes tell of how persons of all condi-tions went about reeling and embracing one another, and were able to give utterance to their gratitude only in lamentation and wail-

"A remarkable man was old Brother Sanford," Governor Rabun used to say. "When he came to Milledgeville to ask for a pardon for the woman Edy Adkins, who had been convicted of murder on Rocky Comfort, I did my best to get from him the name of the real murderer, assured in my mind that he must know who it was. He did not deny having such knowledge, yet he persistently refused to mention any name. I said to him finally that such a crime must be expisted by some body, and unless I could know who was the real perpetrator, I hardly thought I ought to disturb the verdict of the jury and the judgment of the court. What do you think the old man said then? He rose, straightened himself and said, 'Willian Rabun, I refuse to tell you more than the fact that I do know positively that Edy Adkins is not guilty of this murder. If you believe my statement, and yet will not interfere to prevent her execution, what I have to say is that the time may come when you will think that the same rope with which that friendless creature was hanged ought to have been used to launch you into the same eternity."

hose Beavy Capital Enables Them to Fleece Suffering Sumanity—A Bold and Flerce Opposition Carses Them to Feel a Little Shaky.

It is a notable fact that the people of Atlanta and elsewhere are beginning to be thoroughly convinced that worthless compounds become "shaky" at all new innovations, while an honest preparation never fears opposition. We do not propose to "wipe out" others, as the field for operation is large, and we accord to one and all the same privileges we enjoy. We are not so far lost to business principles as to denounce any other remedy as a fraud, or imitation, or as containing a vegetable poison, the effects of which are horrible to contemplate. The alarm need not be sounded, for there is ample room for all declining anti-potash, pine top slop water compounds.

If one bottle of B. B. B. is more valuable i effects than half a dozen of any other preparation, we won't get mad about it. If ten bottles of B. B. B, cures a case of blood poison which others could not cure at all, it only proves that B. B. B. is far the best medicine.

20,000 Bottles of B. B. B. have been sold to parties living inside the corporation of Atlanta since it was started two years ago! Why this wonderful sale of a new remedy in so short a time with so little advertising? It must be confessed that it is because B. B. B.

has proven itself to possess merit in the cure of blood, skin and kidney diseases. Hundreds of home certificates attest the fact of our claim that in Atlanta and many other points B. B. B. are "on top," and will stay there. Many persons desire to know how the B. B. B. acts on the system. By entering the circulation, it modifies the vitiated blood globules, increases the red corpuscies, antegonizes all poison, vitalizes and regenerate the flagging forces, furnishes the pabulum for rich, new blood, eliminates all poison through the secretions, and increases the appetite, while, by its wonderful action upon the pores of the skinthe kidneys liver and clandular system, all effete and impure matter, is speedily conducted from the body, leaving the blood pure, fresh and healthy.

By its magical alterative powers, B. B. B. unloads the blood of all impurities, unlocks the liver, arouses all secretions, restores nature to its normal condition, unclouds the troubled brain, clears and heautifies the complexion, cheers the despondent, strengthens the feeble, calms the disturbed nerves and induces quiet and peaceful slumbers. It has been in use over twenty-five years as a private prescription in the south.

It is no far-fetched, foreign-found or dream-dis covered subterranean wonder, but is a scientific and happy combination of recognized vegetable blood poison agents, effected after many years of constant use and experiment in the treatment of thousands of some of the most appalling cases of scrofulous, syphilitic and cutaneous blood poisons ever known in the state, resulting in complete and unparalleled cures of pronounced incurable

The Skin.

This class of troublesome complaints embraces a large list, some of which afflict nearly every family in the land. Heretofore the treatment of nearly all these diseases has been very unsatisfactory and unsuccessful, and the people have been very much deceived by pretended remedies. A majority are caused by an impure, vitiated condition of the blood, and as most of the blood remedies of the day require 50 to 100 bottles before you discover that they will not effect a cure, we offer only a few bottles.

The most common of the skin diseases which are cured by the use of B. B. the only quick Blood Purifier, are as follows Eczema, Erysipela Dry Tetter,

All females love to look pretty (which gentleme do not object to) and a smooth, soft, clear complex ion adds greatly to female charms.

The use of B. B. B. will purify your blood, will remove blotches, splotches and bumps that appear upon the face and neck, and will tinge the pale cheek with the roseate hues of nature. One or two bottles will convince any one of its value. No family should fail to keep B B. R. in the house, as there is no family medicine its equal.

THE GEOLOGICAL SURVEY. The proposed completion of the geological survey of our state should receive the fivorable consideration of the legislature.

It is the duty of a great state to know and its first study should be the study of its own resources. So far as the old geological survey progressed, the results were satisfactory enough, but the work received an untimely check. Added to our variety of other products, the mineral wealth of Georgia, properly ascertained and developed, would make our state an empire in itself. Wherever the geologist has left his mark in the moun, tains of north Georgia, outside capital has rushed in to take advantage of his discoveries. It will be a mistaken and a wasteful policy to keep our people in ignorance of the vast treasures hidden in our hills and valleys. The result of such a course will transfer our most valuable mineral lands to foreign capitalists for a mere song. As far as practicable the people of Georgia should reap the benefit of their hard-earned possessions. By continuing the geological survey, and making public the results, the owners of the vast material resources under their feet will know the value of their property. They will

We advocate this geological survey because it is directly in the line of true progress. From first to last it has been THE CONSTITU-TION'S custom to throw itself heartily into any movement tending to advance the material development of our commonwealth. It feels that the opportunity now suggested is too full of promise to be wasted. With our imperfect and unfinished survey, millions of capital bave been invested here. Millions more will come when the pathway is once blazed out. With this capital will come intelligent, self-supporting immigrants.

Te secure these blessings of capital, population and development we have only to uncover our inexhaustible natural wealth and make it known to the world.

THE ROACH SWINDLE. Little Billy Chandler, who, as the secretary of the navy, was John Roach's silent partner and agent, continues to defend the builder of the Dolphin. There is no doubt that little Bill is a very shrewd customer in a general way; but certainly he must be shrewder as John Rosch's private agent and lobbyist than he has been as Roach's defender in the public prints. Indeed, it is not too much to say that little Bill's letters, addressed to the newspapers, have been in the nature of seri-

In one shape and another he has practically admitted everything that has been charged by the government in regard to the failure of Reach to carry out the contract; and he has even gone so far as to say that if the terms of the contract have been violated, the fault should be charged to the navy department and not to John Roach. Just how much his swift assumption of responsibility will at Roach it is impossible to say, but aseuly it will cost Chandler nothing, for s ore thoroughly irresponsible person it would difficult to find.

Chandler declares that Roach has been lined by Whitney and Garland for political urposes; but Roach himself says that he is ot ruined stall, being able to pay two dolrs for every dollar of indebtedness. Moreover, as if to confound himself, Chandler declares that he knew of Roach's weakness in May. At this time Roach supposed that he could bulldeze the democratic secretary into accepting a piece of patchwork for which the government had already paid him, and certainly even little Bill, who hesitates at nothing, will hesitate some time before he claims that this weakness which he knew of in May was the result of democratic oppression. The truth of the matter is that if there is to be any assignment on account of loss, the government ought to do the assigning, for it is out of pocket a big round sum on the Roach contracts. Roach himself, thanks to sum of money unlawfully paid to him from time to time by his partner and agent, little

Bill Chandler. Rosch's failure, so far as can be seen, is due to a supposition or to an allegation that the government proposed to get even with him. His haste to make an assignment is evidence that he had an extremely bad case. An honest man would have been glad to have such an opportunity of establishing his personal integrity, and the integrity of his business methods. Roach wanted no such test. He made an assignment in order to prevent the government from recovering the money that had been unlawfully paid him, That is the whole story.

EL MAHDI'S DEATH.

The report of the death of El Mahdi has no longer be reasonably doubted. El Mahdi, who was to conquer the world, undoubtedly

He did not carry the banner of Islam to the well trained European officers. It had guns, and supplies, and camels, and was 12,000 strong; and yet the new prophet annihilated it to a man. It is questionable whether any one survived to tell the story. Not long afterwards his lieutenants overwhelmingly defeated Baker Pasha's army, and would have annihilated it if the guns of the fleet had not afforded shelter. Sinkat and other places were captured, and the uprising spread far and wide. General Gordon and his force were surrounded in Khartoum and the city itself fell before Lord Wolseley could reach it. Although defeated severa

This was the first and last time that the hero of Appomattox ever looked upon Atlanta.

Throughout that dreary December day General Grant quietly devoted himself to the object of his mission. He was making a tour of the south, at the request of President Johnson, and his brief

The next morning the silent visitor with his invitable cigar was on his way to Washington to report to the president. Over his own signature he ssured the government and the country that "the masses of the thinking men of the south accepted the situation in good faith."

Against that calm judgment it was useless to struggle. It broke the full force of the cruel legisation then in progress, and the enemies of the prostrate south were compelled to modify their programme. The demagogues were powerless when the Man of Appomattox barred their reck-

Ir seems that in this country at least, the building stone industry is in its infancy. Of course a good deal depends upon the quality, variety and cost of working the material yet to be discovered. It is a singular fact that in the eastern and oldest states very little has been done to develop their final resources. In Maine, fully one half of the tate is practically an unknown land. Its present quarriesfare all on the coast. The interior may contain immense quanties of building stone. This condition of affairs prevails to a much great or degree in the southern and western states. It is known that the Virginias, the Carolinas and Georgia contain first class material, and yet it is not in the markets. Michigan and Arizona fursh fine sandstones. The Rocky mountain region basalts, rhyolites and trachytes. There is no loubt of our ability to supply the world with good building stone.

Sketch of General Lee.

From the Baltimore Sun. General Fitzhugh Lee, the nominee of the dem eratic convention for governor, was born at Cler-mont, Fairfax county, on November 19, 1835, and s therefore in the 50th year of his age. His father was Captain Sydney Smith Lee, who left the United States navy at the breaking out of the war and joined the confederate navy. General Lee was a grandson of General Henry Lee, or "Light Horse Harry," and a nephew of General Robert E. Lee. The mother of General Lee was a grand-daughter of George Mason and a sister of James M. daughter of George Mason and a sister of James M. Mason, who for many years represented Virginia in the United States senate, and who represented the contederacy in England during the war. At the age of 16 General Lee secured an appointment to West Point. He graduated from there in 1856. He stood at the head of his class in horsemanably, and was assigned to the fifth cavalry as second lieutenant. This was at that period one of the most famous regiments in the army, I twas at times commandeded by such dis inguished efficers as albert Sidney Johnson and Robert E. Lee, Earl Van Born, George H. Thomas, William J. Hardee, John B. Hood and others, who won tame in the southers and federal armits during the late war, were officers in this regiment. Lee saw service on the western froatlers, and was seriously wounded in a condict with the Comanche Indians. In 1850 General Lee was detached from his regiment and ordered to report to West Point as an instructor of cavalry.

His first service under the south was in General Beauregard's army at the battle of Manssass. General Lee became one of the most brilliant cavalry commanders in the confederate army. From a lieutenant he rose to be a majorgeneral. At the battle of Winchester General Lee was wounded in the think by a minnie ball. Three horses were shot under him during that conflict. His wound confined him to his room for several months, but as soon as he could do so he was again at his post Early in the spring of 1855 General Lee was placed in command of all-of the cavalry of the sumy of northern Virginia. The democratic candidate for governor was one of the three corps commanders who, with General Robert E. Lee, composed the council of war which determined upon the surreader at appointance out the mental service was one of the most brilliant of any commander in the confederate army. It has been said that he never sustained a deleat when he was in independent command of an expedition. He was fautilessly brave, and inspired his men by his dashing, gall lant bearing. Here is a point for Atlanta's live men to con sider: The bridge works of Wilkins & Post, on Marietta street, worked 154 men and supported about 900 people. They were shut down not long ago for the lack of sufficient capital, and thei workmen were scattered. A scheme of eorganization has been effected, if $15,000 worth of bonds can be sold, the works will be opened in excellen shape. These bonds bear eight per cent and only $25,000 are put on the entire property, which has been appraised under oath at $50,000 to $92,000.

It does look as if Atlanta cannot afford to let this great enterprise lay idle. The principal and interest of the bonds are perfectly secure. If they are taken the hands will be recalled and work be gun at once on large contracts. If they are not the property will be sold and dismembered

Eastman Times: Mr. Charlie Bonds presented in so in Tuesday last with the first open cotton bold where seen or heard of in this section. This bold was frem the plantation of Mr. F. A. Bonds, and we are glad to state that he has a fine stand of the fleety staple. We wish bodge county had more just such get up and go-shead farmers as H. Bonds. In this connection we will state that Means John Taylor and Geo. W. Evans were the first of our farmers to present us with a cotton bloom this rand we hope John and George are still 'up with their crops.'' Since putting the above in type Mr. E. Wishest has placed uppn our table several fully opened cotton bolls from the splendid plantation of Mrs. Nancy Hargroves, a few miles below town. The cotton was planted and cultivated by Mrs. Hargrove's youngest son, Mr. Frank, and the energy and industry displayed by this young gentleman as a farmer is fruly commendable.

Hon. W. T. McArthur, of Montgomery county, has imported direct from England an improved "English roller gin," for ginning long staple cotton. There is a considerable amount of this cotton raised in Montgomery, and such a gin erected in that community will be quite an advantage to been made to wreck the train on the Athens branch, near Bardstown. About two months ago a bar of iron was placed across the track by some fiend in human shape. A fearful wreck came near being the result. Later a missile was huried through one of the windows of a passenger coach as the train was passing the same point, shattering the glass and scattering the fragments over Judge Emory Speer and his daughter who were sitting by the window. Detective Ed Stone was sent up there to make an investigation. He managed the case with such skill that he soon ran down hi game, and last week arrested a negro boy named Robert Willingham. He confessed to being the Robert Willingham. He confessed to being the guilty party and was lodged in jail at fexington.

Warrenton Clipper: The little two-year-old daughter of Mr. S. A. Gheesing, Jr., had a water-melon seed to lodge in her wind pipe last year which caused her much trouble. At times she would almost choke to death, and during one of her coughing spells last Saturday and when it seemed that she could not breathc any longer, she made one great effort and succeeded in dislodging the seed, and it fiew from her mouth and fell to the floor several feet away. The seed seemed as sound as when it was swallowed a year ago. The little girl is quite proud and experiences no further trouble in breathing.

Tax Receiver Bramblett, of Murray county, has d out the books which show Total amount of taxable property in the county, $1,274,317; a decrease of $61,534 from last year, caused perhaps by the scarcity of provision and the cheapness of stock at the present. Number of polls, 1,534, a very small increase during the past year. Number of acres of land 224,305.

A writer in the Jasper County News tells of reunion, given to her family by Mrs. Mary Corn well, the family were all gathered at the lar spring under the large white oaks. We found upon inquiry that there were present thirty-eigh grand children, fourteen great grandchildren and five children. Six children have died. Ten children and seven great grandchildren were absent. All that were present live in Jasper county, and a fine healthy cooking family just as happly as could be. After dinner the young folks repaired to the dwelling of Mr. N. M. Williams and engaged in dance ioying our pipes and each other's yarns, some of which, especially Mr. Bob Price's, was pretty tough. After thus spending two or three hous pleasantly, we also repaired to the house to see the dancing, which was conducted nicely to mind. who are hard to beat. As we were about to leave quite an affecting scene took place. A pretty li-tle curly headed grand daughter of Mrs. Comshe was six years old, but who has been staying with Mrs. Kate Malone this year going to school, began to cry and cling to her grandma, impler ing her to go home with her. She begged pitiful-y. What is there on earth better than a good Griffin News: The public school board met Monday morning and issued a notice for the examination of teachers, which will be found in another column. They expect to employ about ten or twelve teachers, including those for both the white and colored schools. While the course of study has not been fully arranged, it is expected to embrace all the branches of a common English education, rising to about the grade of a grammar school. The board will be guided by the fact that at first they will not have a large fund to go upon, and will start upon as small a scale as possible, guided somewhat, however, by the attendance, which promises to be good. Dr. Drewry, president of the board, says that he has already had inquiry from about 100 persons from abroad desiring to enter 100 persons from abroad desiring to material morning and took steps for transferring their building to the public schools. It has not been decided whether the institute will be kept open for the teaching of the higher branches for boys. It is also undecided whether the schools will have separate buildings for boys and girls.

Macon is Defeated But Protests. Columbus, Ga., August 1.-[Special.]-Columbus and Macon played another great game of ball today, which the home team won by a score of 2 to nothing. 1u the fourth innings Andrews got his base on balls, stole second and scored on Dorgan's hit. In the eight Lyons got first on a safe hit and scored on a wild throw by Miller, who tried to catch him off his base. In the fifth innings Stephens hit for three bags. Columbus claimed that he was put out at third but the umpire called him safe. While the next batter was up, Strauss let a pitched ball drop and it rolled slowly against Young's foot. The Macons claimed that it was a blocked ball, and Stephens attempted to run in and was touched by Strauss. Young decided tha in as much as the ball had merely touched his foot, and the runner could not have scored. anyhow, he was not entitled to the run. He, howanyhow, he was not entitled to the run. He, however, agreed that Stephens might return to third, and he did so, but the manager of the Macons announced that he would play the game under protest. The mistake that Young made was in not putting the runner out, but Columbus has no complaint to make on that point, inasmuch as they retired the side without allowing Stephens to leave third. All in all, the game was a very sine one. Columbus had only one error, which was on a wild throw to first by Lyons. Cline played short superbly. This was his blad only one stated.

Augusta Again Downs Birmingham. BIRMINGHAM, Als., August 1.—[Special.]—The Augustas won in an exciting game this afternoon adding one run to a tied score of three in the ninth. All the runs were made on errors or passed balls. Catchers Schwartz and Kappel suffered severely, and Roxburg took the latter's place in the seventh inning. The umpire's rulings, especially on McCauley's work in the box, was conceded by the crowd to be very much in favor of the visitors.

Taylor ran a small portion of the distance to first, when he branched off and got to second by the shortest route across the grass. He was successful both times in holding the second as the umpire had his eye on third. The visitors were disposed to kick.

"Time is Money." The best thing a man can carry in his vest pocket is a watch, and a watch that can't be depended upon at all times, under all circumstances, and in any weather and climate, is of but little value. The public are awakening to this fact, and the house of J. P. Stevens & Co. are getting the benefit. As time rolls on, the accuracy and reliability of their Georgia made watches is thoroughly tested and proven. Having gone through every crucial ordeal they are offered to the public as the best watch on the market. They are put up in the handsomest cases, and are engraved as the purchaser desires. Should you contemplate buy-ing a good watch, go and see them, or ask any railroad man who has worn one what he TAKING A STAND.

THE MERCHANTS MAKE A CHOICE OF A NEW ROUTE

The Louisville and Mashville, the Mashville and Chattanooga, the Western and Atlantic, and the Riebmond and Danville Egilroads Selected for (the Trial Trip.

The committee representing the interests of the merchants of Atlanta in the matter of having her re-shipping privileges restored, has decided to give to the Louisville and Nashville, the Nashville and Chattanoga and the Western and At-lantic railroads all of its patronage on western freights, and to the Richmond and Dan-ville railroad all of its eastern busi-ness. This arrangement is understood to be only temporary in character. These I'nes, belonging to the association as they do, are not allowed to re-establish the rebilling system, and lithough they have been selected to do the hauling for the merchants of Atlanta, cannot offer them any further inducements than they have always accorded them. The merchants having failed to get a response to their demands upon the association selected the lines stated, and will patronize them until they will succeed, as they hope to do, in until they will succeed, as they hope to do, in having the system of rebilling and reshipping restored. The merchants think that by their concerted action in this matter they will force the railroads to come to their terms. The officers of the lines selected state that the only thing they have promised to do is to meet all cuts, if any are by competitive routes.

It is predicted that this arrangement will not last long, and will be broken up by a series of rate cutting. The experiment, it is held, was tried in Augusta once, and failed after a run of only a month or two. In the mean time, however, the lines selected will have a fat thing of it if the merchants attand up to the contract that they have signed with the committee.

Yesterday the merchants and brokers of the city who had signed the contract were informed of the action of the committee, and they will at once direct all of their shipments from the west and east to be billed by the lines indicated above. The agreement will at once go into effect. The efficials of competitive lines do not seem to show much uneasiness over the matter; on the contrary appear to take the action of the committee with much indifference.

New St Louis and Chicago Fast Line, The magnificent steel bridge across the Ohio river at Henderson, Ky., one of the longest bridges in the country, and remarkable as having the longest span in the world, has at last been completed, having been in process of erection for more than two years, and was opened for traffic By its completion the city of Atlanta is brought nto closer connection with the cities of Chicago and St. Louis, and the great northwest. Since the completion of this bridge, and the putting on of two fast express trains, daily, by the Western and Atlantic railroad, the time from Atlanta to St. Louis and Chicago has been reduced more than six hours.

Watermelon Business Over the Western and Atlantic.

Last evening a Constitution reporter called on Mr. Joseph M. Brown, general freight agent of the Western and Atlantic railroad, to secure, it possible, statistics regarding the watermelon busines for this season.

From him he learned that from the beginning of this season up to July 31st, there had been forwarded over the Western and Atlantic railroad 1,624 carloads of watermelons. During the entire season of 1884 the Western and Atlantic railroad transported 347 certains. season of 1884 the Western and Atlantic railroad transported 947 cars.

That road, therefore, has already very haudsomely besten last year's figures, and it is estimated that at least two hundred more cars will be added to the number before the season ends, which will be during about the last of the present mouth.

The Georgia Railroad Commission.

The legislature of the state of Georgia is in sesifested here as to the action it may take in regulating the powers of its railroad commission. For several years the Georgia railroad commission, clothed with arbitrary powers, has not only im paired confidence in the value of securities of roads under its jurisdiction, but impeded the development of the great resources of development of the great resources of the "empire state" of the south. The chief ruler of this commission is said to be Mr. Campbell Wallace, a venerable gentleman possessed of some railroad experience and of a vigorous will. A strong anti-railroad sentiment has been developed in Georgia by politicans, and this sentiment has hitherto enabled Mr. Wallace to control the affairs of the commission and obtain from the legislature almost anything he desired.

The railroad commission claims that the state of Georgia has made progress in its works of in-

The railroad commission claims that the state of Georgia has made progress in its works of internal improvement under commission rule, to which answer is made that Georgia has progressed somewhat in spite of the drawbacks of the railroad commission. It is said that Mr. Wallace made his railroad reputation in the management of the Western and Atlantic railroad at a time when that road was owned by the state and was a practical monopoly with high rates. His efforts in railroad construction were not attended with success. In his attempt to luifida road from atlanta to the Alabama coal Selds, he exhausted the subscriptions of Atlanta.

atter which the road was abandoned until northern capital was induced to take it up and floishs the line.

The contests between the Georgia Central, Louisville and Nashville and other lines have forced in several instances the leasing of roads in Georgia thigh rates. Apart, showever, from these roads, which at best are only a necessary burden to the leasees, there is very little return from railroad investments at present in the state. Capitalists here and in Europe have been repeatedly led into unprofitable investments in the south through the eloquence of the premoters of enterprises there. Millions of dollars have been sunk in that section with no hope but to wait the gradual development of the south. If the people of Georgia owned their own roads, arbitrary commission rule such as exists now would be impossible. Railroad commissions may be necessary to regulate traffic, but that is an entirely different thing to clothing a commission with absolutely dictatorial and inquisitorial powers over investments that cannot be removed from the state, and are, therefore, dependent upon the justice of its citizens and representatives for protection.

Until the people of Georgia learn that such arbitrary powers are prejudicial to investments. Cunit the people of state which will give such powers over a capital invested in railroad property may not hesiste, after the capital has been secured, to make the same arbitrary laws regulating investments in cotion and from mills, and, ja fact, any class of investments within the state.

Personals.

David C. Brady, general traveling pessenger agent of the Chicago, Burlington and Quiucy railroad, is in the city looking after the passenger business for his line. General commissioner, Virgil Powers, of the Southern Railway and Steamship association will reach Atlanta tonight. Mr. C. A. Sindail secretary of the association will not return to Atlanta for several days.

Bob Owens is the youngest passenger agent in Atlants, at the same time he is one of the best handling his business like a veteran.

The called meeting of the Southern Railway and Steamship association, held in New York last week, was for the purpose of adjusting differences between competitive lines that spring up since the annual meeting held here two weeks since. A telegram received here yesterday announces that these differences have been amicably adjusted, and that matters will continue to move along smoothly.

The ditched train of the Georgia Pacific has been again put on the track. Some of the cars are pretty badly used up. The sleeper was found to be less in jured than it was first thought to be.

The burning of the Kimball scattered the passenger agents in every direction, compelling them to get offices wherever they could. Since the new one has gone up the agents have returned to their old stands and feel like they are at home again. COLUMBIA NOTES.

What the People are Doing in the South Carolina Capital.

Columbia, S. C., August 1.—[Special.]—Captain James King, one of the oldest conductors on the C. C. and A. R. R., and Mr. John Oliver, the oldest shoe merchant in Columbia, have to gone to their birthplace in Scotland, where they will spend birtholace in Scotland, where they will spend some months.

Captain Wiley Jones, the courteous and popular cashier of the Carolina National bank, will leave here in a few days for the north on his annual pleasure pilgrimage.

Captain L. D. Childs, who owns a large hay plantation a few miles below Columbia, on the banks of the raging Congaree, has bought a small steamboat, which will ply between the city and his farm. It has not yet been tested, but it is believed there will be no trouble in navigating the craft.

A new man has come out for the legislature, and a good one, too—Captain W. D. Starling, one of the most successful butchers in Columbia; also a prosperous farmer. Besides, he is captain of the Richland Light Huzzars. He will make a good race, and if elected will make an excellent legislator.

The Rev. B. T. Babbitt, pastor of the St. Luke's colored church in this city, is preaching a series of remarkable sermons on "the negro race."

The Columbia postoffice under the new manage ment is satisfactorily conducted. Postmaster Gibbes has already shown his efficiency. Mr. John Abney, formerly of this city, is gaining a distinguished position at the bar in New Xork Governor Thompson is in Charleston attending the meeting of the board of visitors of the Carolina military academy. Professor D. A. Straker, the negro lawyer of this city, has been snubbed by some prominent repub-lican lawyers in Detroit, Mich.

From the Kansas City Journal.

Sam Jones is said to have knocked down 3,000 over at Plattsburg in one day with his "willipus wallapus." Sam Jones is a "bigger man" than Samson, for he only knocked out 1,000 Philistines at one crack with the jawbone of jan ass, and Sam seems to have gotten away or is reported to have bested 3,000 Missouri democrats.

Within the breathless precincts of the town,
Beneath this brassy glitter of the sun,
Where heated pavements tremble in its frown,
I catch the far off sound of rill and run.

Above the restless rost of toil and trade
Sweet sylvan voices whisper to mine ear,
And I sm lost in tangles of deep shade,
And "purr" of leaves and murmuring brooks seem near.

I see the waves in laughter running in, And hear the surf moan on the outer bar; The larks a-field their noontide sougs begin, And yet I know they are so far, so far.

What is the e in the air, this July day,
That keeps me dreaming of those pastures green,
And scents the room with odors of new hay,
And wakes the locust's song, "I ween, I ween?"

The dozing cows stand knee-deep in the brook, The flickering shadows play upon the grass, And as I try to read, beyond the book, O'erhead I see white cloud-fleets sailing past. Is there within the soul some subtle string, Untouched by aught, save on such days as the
When faint remembered odors make it ring
With songs of dingles dark and illied leas?

to try the Frank Siddalls Soap clam toilet;

. Cleaning House FOR THEY ARE CLAMS and dont propose to alless things to penetrate their shells that were unknown to their granduather clams and to their granduather clams

A Clam is not a good thing for a Housekeeper to copy after:-

A WIDE-AWAKE HOUSEKEEPER will try new Ways that are endorsed by leading newspapers
A WIDE-AWAKE FARMER will try a Butter Worker and a Hay Fork
A WIDE-AWAKE GROCER will buy the kind of goods his customers call for A WIDE-AWAKE MAN always wants to try the Soap he sees highly recommended for Toilet, Bath and Shaving.

Of course a woman is NOT expected to try every new thing that is offered her; but when the most reliable papers in the United States emphatically endorse in the strongest manner every claim made for The Frai's Siddells Soap, there is certainly no excuse for not giving it one square, honest trial strictly as directed. Intelligent women are adopting The Frank Siddells Way of Washing Clothes, and those who have done so are already beginning to look down with pity on persons who are set in their old ways:—SO DONT BE A CLAM ODD USES-QUAINT USES-SPECIAL USES

CAN THE TAX TO SERVE THE TAX OF THE TAX THE TAX OF THE ----FOR THE TOILET IT IS SIMPLY PERFECTION----

All Perfumes are injurious to the Skin; The Frank Siddalls Soap is not perfumed, be has an agreeable odor from its ingredients that is always pleasant, even to an invalid; it nev produce; it should always be used for washing the hands and face of those troubled with chapped skins; a child will not dread having its face washed when this Soon is used as it does not cause the eyes to smart with the dreaded intense sting that even Imported Castile soap often causes; it always leaves the Skin soft and smooth; wash your baby with it.

No tooth-powder or tooth-wash will compare with it.

A little on the tooth-brush makes the mouth, teeth and gums perfectly clean.

It leaves a pleasant, aromatic taste, a sweet breath, and a clean tooth-brush it is especially adapted for toilet use with the hard water of the West and in Lake water Persons who despise a musty Spongs or Wash-rag will appreciate The Frank Siddails Scap. Whenever either a Spongs or Wash-rag has a disagreeable smell it is due entirely to the so-called fine toilet soap that is such a havorite with four. It is the place of Scap to keep a Sponge or Wush-rag sweet at I clean, and The Frank Siddails Scap will do it without any occasion to expose it to the sir or sun.

Try it for washing your Eye-Classes and Spectacles When used for washing the head it is better than Shampooing; plenty of the rich white lather should be left in the hair (not washed out); it entirely doe away with the use of Hair Tonic, Bay Rim, Bandoline, Pomade, or any hair dress of the control of the removes dandruff, the hair will not collect dust, and there will not be any itching of the scalp: Coat Collars, Hat Linings and Neck-wear will keep clean much longer.

FOR MEN TO READ ONLY THINK! ONE SOAP FOR ALL USES! The Merchant and his Clerk, the Photographer, the Optician, the Artist, the Jeweler, the Printer, the Bather at the Turkish Bath, the Barber, the Hotel, the Stable,

-FOR SHAVING-Soap that its superiority dible; the face never burns or smarts, no matter how dull the razor, how tender the skin, or how closely shaved, and the Sponge and Soap Cup will always be sweet-smelling. ---- IMPORTANT FOR SHIPBOARD AND ARMY USE-

It washes freely in hard water, and be sure to remember, where water is scarce, that The Frank Siddalls Way of Washing only takes a few buckets of water for a large wash. -FOR HORSES, HARNESS, CARRIACES, etc.-It is vastly superior to Castile Soap for washing a horse's mane and tail, while for washing Sores, Galls, Scratches, etc., it is indispensable. No Stable is complete without it. For Harness it is better than Harness Soap, thoroughly cleansing the leather and rendering it soft and pliable, while for washing Cars and Car Windows, cleaning the running-gear and bodies of fine carriages, it is without a rival; by its use Paint and Varnish will last much longer, and the Windows and Lamps will be as clear as crystal

SPECIAL FOR PHYSICIANS To the Physician, the Druggist, the Nurse and the Patient its importance is becoming more and more widely known and appreciated, and it is rapidly superseding Imported Castile and similar soaps for use in the Sick-room, the Nursery and the Hospital.

-AS AN ANTISEPTIC AND DISINFECTANT-For washing Old Running Sores, Bed Sores, Cuts, Wounds and Burns; for washing Chafed Places on Infants and Adults; for use by persons suffering with Tetter, Ringworm, Salt Rheum, Itching Piles, Eruptions on the Face, and for children afflicted with Scaly Incrustations, it is without any of the injurious effects so often experienced when other soap is used; while for washing the Invalid it is a most valuable aid to the Physician, by oughness with which it removes the exhalations from the skin that would otherwise tend to counteract the action of his medicines by closing up the pores, and which cannot be accomplished by any other soap.

Letters from well-known Physicians, describing their experience in their practice with The Frank Siddalls Soap, leave no doubt of the truth of these assertions. The Frank Siddails Soap, leave no doubtof the truth of these assertions.

Use it for washing Sores on the Feet, caused by working or wearing tight shoes.

Always leave plenty of the lather on-don't ringe the lather off.

For washing Graduate Measures and Mortars it is better than anything else.

Dont ask your wife to try The Frank Siddalls Soap Will cure Ingrowing Toe-nails. if you are not willing to try it for Shaving and Toilet The lasting properties of the lather of The Frank Siddalls Soop are very remarkable, and add greatly to its value for sharing purposes: without any question, the lather from The Frank Siddalls Soap is far more lasting than that from any other soap - not excepting the most celebrated makes of this country or Europe.

And Now for the Clean, Neat, Easy, Genteel, Ladylike FRANK SIDDALLS WAY OF WASHING CLOTHES There is nothing intricate about these directions:—any child 10 or 12 years of age—who has common sense—will have no trouble in following them.

TO HEAT THE WASH-WATER, and as the wash-water must only be lukewarm, a small kettle holds enough for the atmosphere, in spite of the most careful housekeeper, which injures the delicate ingredients that are in this Soap Be sure to heat the water in the Tea-Kettle the first time, no matter how odd it reems.

Be sure to always make the last water soapy; the clothes will NOT smell of the Soap, but will be as sweet as if never worn, and stains that have been overlooked in washing will bleach out while drying, and the clothes will impression.

FIRST-Dip one of the garments in a tub of lukewarm water; draw it out on a wash-board, and rub the Soap LIGHT over it so as not to waste it, being particular not to miss scaping any of the soiled places.

Then ROLL IT IN A TIGHT ROLL, just as a piece is rolled when it is sprinkled for ironing, lay it in the bottom of tub under the water, and go on the same way until all the pieces have the Soap rubbed on them and are rolled up.

Then go away for 20 minutes to one hour—by the clock—and let The Frank Siddalls Soap do its work.

NEXT—After sodking the FULL time, commence rubbing the clothes LIGHTLY on a wash-board and the Diet of PIECE, OR THEY WILL TURN YELLOW; and DONT wash through two suds. If the wash-water gets too dirty, dips out and add a little clean water; if it gets too cold for the hands, add some hot water out of the ten-kettle.

It a Streak is hard to wash, rub some more Soap on it and throw the piece back into the suds for a few minutes.

KNOW JUST HOW TO BO THIS.

NEXT, the Blue-water, which can be either lukeward or cold: Use little or no Blueing, for this Soap take place of Blueing. STIR A PIECE OF THE SOAP in the Blue-water UNTIL THE WATER GETS DECIDED MORE RINSING and WITHOUT SCALDING OF BOILING A SINGLE PIECE.

Afterwards soap the Colored Pieces and Colored Flannels, let them stand 20 minutes to 1 hour, THE MOST DELICATE COLORS WILL NOT FADE WHEN WASHED THIS WAY, BUT WILL BE THE BRIGHT special rate and the general desire to attend General Grant's funeral.

The enterprise and liberality of the East Tennessee management in offering this low rate to New York will be appreciated by the public. The route over which they tary passengers is remarkably attractive. It passes through the beautiful Shenandoah valley and amid the historichills of Georgia. Tennessee and Virginia. An excellent opportunity to visit New York is now offered to the public at a rate that will not fall to attract travel.

A Good School For Girls. We invite attention to the advertisement in this issue of Mrs. Mary E. Allen, who proposes to open a school for young ladies and girls in Decatur, Ga.

a school for young ladies and girls in Decatur, Gallady and a highly competent teacher, and that her school will be of a high order, embracing English, French, and the higher branches of learning, music, art, etc.

She teaches upon a new and improved method, one which in certain localities in the north has accomplished splendid results, and acquired great popularity. She gives special attention to the cenduct and deportment of her pupils, cultivating with assiduous care those social and moral traits so essential in the education of young latraits so essential in the education of young la-dies. The advantages of Decatur for such a school are unsurpassed. It is a beautiful village on the Georgia railroad, six miles east of Atlanta, and is remarkable for its beauty of location, for its pure cold freestone water, the fine mineral waters in its vicinity, its bracing and salubrious atmosphere and for the social and moral character of its citi 2018.

Sunday School Meeting.

The third district, auxiliary to the Fulton county Sunday school association, was held at Belton yesterday. All of the Sunday schools in the district was largely represented, and the many visitors from Atlanta and other places evidently enjoyed the day. The address of welcome was delivered by Mr. J. M. Moore, and was ropriately responded to by Mr. J. M. Attaway. appropriately responded to by Mr. J. M. Attaway.
Mr. A. C. Briscoe recited in a pleasing manner, his travels in Palestine. The annual address by Mr. Howard VanEpps, of this city, was a triumph of eloquence for one already famous ses an orator.
Much credit for the success of the celebration, is due to the efforts of Mr. Thomas . Goore, the president of the association. Indefatigable, untring and enthusiastic in all that promotes the best interest of his community, he has the thanks of all the citizens of that portion of Fulton

HIGH LICENSE OR PROHIBITION. The Views of a Leading Temperance Man

He Favors Prohibi A traveling correspondent of the Chicago Tribune, who recently visited Atlanta, wrote a long letter on the temperance agitation in Geor-gia, a large part of which is devoted to an alleged interview with Mr. J. G. Thrower, of this city, in which occurs the following:

interview with Mr. J. G. Thrower, of this city, in which occurs the following:

"Mr. Thrower," said I, "you have five cities—Atlanta, Columbus, Macon, Augusta and Savannah. What are you doing with these cities?"

"We propose high license in these places, and just as high as we can get." "Yes," says I, "but that is licensing an evil." "Oh, no!" says he, "that is shackling an evil when you can't kill it. High license," says he, "commits the city to a policy of restriction; it gots the city committed to the work of diminishing the evil. After awhile, when they have wrestled with the evil thing until they are tired and disgusted with it, we hope they may clamor for prehibition. For instance," says he, "there in Atlanta. The country all around it outside the city is prohibition, and we confidently believe that if submitted to a vote of the people of the city prohibition, and we confidently believe that if submitted to a vote of the people of the city prohibition would carry today, but we don't dare to do it. The people of the city don't know yet what prohibition means, and they have no proper idea of what it costs to enforce it. Were it adopted now by a small majority a great many rooms that now pay high rents would be vacant. A great many would be thrown out of employment, and a general complaint would go up that would frighten those who had not expected it, and the chances are that the city would go back to license, and then it would be good bye foreer to city prohibition in this state. No, we must wait. Yesterday a Constitution man asked Mr. Thrower if this interview represented his position. He replied:

"Not by any means. I don't think Mr. Sutton, the correspondent of the Tribune, intended to misrepresent me but he certainly misunderstood me. He himself made the argument in lawor of high

He replied:

"Not by any means. I son't think Mr. Sutton, the correspondent of the Tribune, intended to misrepresent me but he certainly misunderstood me, the himself made the argument in layer of high license which he attributes to me in that interview, and asked me if it was not a good one. I went no further than to say that there might be some, cases where high license was the best that, could be done and that it might lead to prohibition, but I stated to him my opposition to the high license was the best that, which was not a good one. I went a stated to him my opposition to the high license theory."

"How about your remarks concerning Atlanta?"

"He made a big mistake there. I really think there is much more danger in the splendid saloons which would pay high license than in the miser able dens which it would close up. The fine saloons make intemperance attractive while the low sinks of drunkenness make it disgusting. It seems to me that the advocates of high license begin at the wong end. If we save the boys in a few years we will have no drunkards. It will not take the old ones long to die off.

"As far as the license question goes I do not believe in any license at all. If the whisky traffic does good it ought to be allowed free and if it does harm it ought not to be licensed at all. So I am against low lincense or high license either."

"How will the question come up in Atlanta."

"How will the question come up in Atlanta,"

"In the form of prohibition or license. The issue seems to me certain to be made in that form. It will come as a square test, whether the people want liquor sold here or not."

"What will be the result?"

"I am confident that the citizens of Atlanta will shut up the liquor saloon before the end of the present year. That is they will vote before the end of the present year to have them closed. The Good Templars are not agitating this movement towards an election. They try to create a sentiment in every community where they work against the use of whisky, but this is not their movement in Atlanta. The citizens of Atlanta can shut out whisky without the aid of the vote of the temperance organizations. Of course we are going to give all the help to the cause we can when the time comes, but I mean that this movement is broader and bigger than any organization. It is the people's movement and is sure to prevail. So far from saying that we dare not try a prohibition movement here, I think it is the very thing we should try and it will succeed in my opinion the first time it is tried. You see I am not correctly quoted in the interview in the Tribune."

THE GATE CITY GUARD

Prospect That the Company will Attend General Grant's, Funeral. It is more than probable that the Gate City Guard will attend the funeral of General Grant in New York next Saturday. If the citizens of Atlanta want the company to go it will be there. The expenses of the trip will be heavy and it will require a subscription of $500 to insure the presence of the company in the grand funeral pageant that will represent every state in the union. With this amount subscribed by the citizens of Atlanta the company will take thirty-five picked men. It is their intention to leave Atlanta next Wednesday afternoon if the necessary subscription is raised, as it surely will be. Ten dollars each from fifty citizens would settle the matter, and it is thought that when the committee starts out Monday the necessary funds will be raised in a little while. Last night before the project was four hours old $100 was guaranteed by a gentleman in this city.

The Gate City Guard is one of the famous military organizations of the United States. It has honored Atlanta in war and in peace, and it would be peculiarly appropriate for the city to have such a representation in the funeral procession in which all the states are to appear by civil and military or-Atlanta want the company to go it will be there funeral procession in which all the states are to appear by civil and military organizations. The company is in fine condition Thirty-five splendid fellows could be found to join the ranks for this trip which would honor Atlanta as much as it would the Guard themselves. The $500 necessary to insure the presence of the Guin New York next Saturday will doubtless promptly contributed.

Atlanta's Lady Artists. In one of the windows of Messrs. Wilson and Bruckner, is a magnificently executed crayon of Horace Cranford, Esq., of Athens, Ga., drawn by Mrs. Luella Steele, of this city. The work shows plainly the hand of a true and talented artist. The likeness is perfect, and the treatment of hair, light and shadow disarms adverse criticism ignt and shadow disarms average criticism. Another excellent portrait, in black and white, drawn by Mrs. Steele, is in the possession of Mr. Levi Scovill, of the Kimball house, and is a nerfect fac simile of that well-known gentleman's classic features. Atlanta may be proud of,her new artist.

ATLANTA DISTRICT.

From the Land of Lemons An old citizen of my town and an old druggist, said to me today that he had long been looking for a liver medicine that would take the place of calomel, producing all its good effects and none calomei, producing all its good effects and none of its bad, injurious constitutional effects. After a thorough trial he had found it in Dr. Mozley's Lemon Elixir. I have sold, as you know, large lots of the elixir since last spring, and never sold a liver medicine for billiousness, constipation and diseases resulting from these causes that pleased the people as much as Lemon Elixir. Send me nine dezen at once T. Albert Jankings.

Dry goods, carpets, shoes! Chamberlin, Johnson & Co. We have now just 60 days to wind up our great clearing out sale. We have found out by a few week's experience that low prices will make trade and we are determined to make more trade by low prices. We propose during the 60 days time to slaughter our present stock and let it go regardless of value and thousands and thousands for half price rather than move the goods and mix them with new goods in our new store. We say candidly to the trading public that we are determined and desperately in earnest. This stock shall be sold if low prices will sell it, and we invite you to come and see our goods. After having examined everything in the city bring samples with you and if you are a judge of quality we will sell without any trouble, and you will get goods for less than they are worth. One other important thing we would have you to remember and that is we keep no shoddies, no bankrupt goods nor auction goods, our stock is clean and first class, the most stylish, the largest and perfectly exquisite stock of dry goods, carpets and shoes in the south today, and we buy the very best and we can afford to guarantee our goods. In short we make every assertion of our salesmen a positive guarantee to our customers. For bargains there has been nothing to compare with this great clearing out sale. We are determined to make a clean sweep and during the week we will offer the largest and most exquisite lot of imported embroideries, white goods, table linens, towels, napkins, cassimeres, neck wear, dress goods, lace curtains, etc., etc., all at cost and carriage. All we ask is for you to see them. Bring your friends with you, no trouble, but a pleasure to show goods. Don't forget that we advertise this way for a purpose as reasonable men. We co object to carrying our present stock in our new store, when it can and will be filled with by far the largest stock of the most exquisite imported goods ever seen in the south, and now is the time for you to avail yourself of this opportunity

In order to give all those a chance who have not been able to see our great bargains, we shall continue our GREAT CLOSING OUT SALE this entire week. We guarantee greater bargains in the Dry Goods and Carpet line than you have ever seen. It is to your interest to see our goods. M. Rich & Bros.

The great secret of our large trade is in buying goods cheap Ten per cent saved in our purchases is ten per cent for our customers. We claim to sell thirty three per cent more goods than any retail house in the state, thus enabling us to buy most of our goods in large lots from first hands, and this package buying means a saving of ten per cent over houses that buy for a smaller trade. Some houses are constantly advertising to sell goods at New York cost and half price and all such nonsense. We are not surprised at such announcements, for if they compete with us they may expect to sell at New York cost, and this proves our position in the outset, that the secret of our large trade is in burying cheap. We have plenty of those White Plaid Lawns at 10 cents.

NEW YORK, August 1.—The stock market has drifted into extreme dullness, Not a single stock on the list scored a business of 25,000 shares. In the forenoon prices were weak, and in the after-noon was a fractional decline in Jersey Central and St. Paul. The activity in the rest of the market was hardly sufficient to establish any material change in the quotations, but the market closed very dull and apparently heavy. Nearly everything on the list is fractionally lower, the declines generally being 1/2 to 1/2 per cent. St. Paul. ing 14. Crop reports are conflicting, some being lavorable and others unlavorable, but the majority appear to indicate desmage to spring wheat. As to crops in the morthwest receipts are moderate but generally much below those of last year. The corn market was ateady and averaged a shade higher. The estimated receipts for Monday were larger and this caused an easier feeling late in the seasion and the market closed about the same as pesterday. The oat market was firm early but fell back and closed easy at yesterday's final figures. Provisious closed easy at yesterday's final figures. Provisi

Griffin,

Pleasure has reigned supreme in Griffin the past week. The feativities were begun Monday night by an entertainment at the spacious and beautiful home of Mr. J. D. Boyd. The entertainment was in honor of Miss May Stafford, of Barnesville, and was a delightful success in every particular.

Tuesday night the Glee club was entertained in a charming manner by Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Mills, at their home on Hill street. The exercises were unusually interesting. A song beautifully and sweetly sung by Misses Willie Green, of Fort Valley, and Willie Oliver, of Albany, and the artistic rendition of an instrumental solo by Miss Vesta Ralls, of Monroe county, were among the interesting features of the evening.

The Tennyson reading club met Tuesday night at Mrs. J. A. Beeks's, and enjoyed a very pleasant evening and had a full programme.

Wednesday afternoon about twenty young couples left Griffin for a moonlight picnic at Weems's pond. They had a most charming evening, a delightful lunch, and the ride home in the moonlight was inspiring enough for both beaux and leasies.

Mrs. William Lyons gave a "fish fry" on the Mrs. William Lyons gave a "fish fry" on the banks of the pond at her beautiful suburban home Wednesday. Carp were caught and served in the most tempting manner. The party was a merry wednesday. Carp were caused an activation most tempting manner. The party was a merry one, and the occasion very enjoyable.

The young ladies of the Tennyson club gave their young gentlemen friends a delightful entertainment Thursday evening at the residence of Mr. A. Randall. The house and grounds were beautifully and artistically illuminated and decorated, and presented an enchanting a ppearance

The young ladies made engagements with the gratiemen and acted the part of escorts admirably.
Stonewall's silver cornet band was present, and discoursed some of their sweetest airs. Dancing was among the attractions. The reireshments were bountiful and delightful.

Miss Anna Bell Moss entertained a few friends
Thursday evening in honor of her friend, Miss Mattle Briscoe, of Newman, who is visiting her.

Mrs. Dr. T. J. Collier, in honor of Miss Willie Oliver, of Albany, gave a charming entertainment
Thursday evening at her home on Hill street.

The most brilliant entertainment of the season was the party given Friday evening by the young men to the visiting young ladies of Griffin. The beautiful grounds and home of Mrs. Lewis was the place selected for the entertainment. The young gentlemen spared no pains in their efforts to make the entertainment just what it was, the crowning event of the season. There were skry-five couples in attendance. There were thirty visiting young ladies, and the beauty of their dress, the lovilness of their person, and the brilliancy of their conversation could not be surpassed by any clime.

Albany, Ga., has a most fascinating representative here in the person of Mrs. James Mills oliver, who is visiting Miss Trammell.

Misses Ella and Vesta Ealls, two beautiful and attractive young ladies from Monroe county, are visiting the homes of Mr. James Mills and Mr.
John Mills.

Miss Ada Murphy, of Barnesville, has just arrived, and as the guest of Miss Corrie White is very miss and as the guest of Miss Corrie white is very popular.

Miss Lilla Cope will spend the week at Mr. John Mills's, and her bright and fascinating manners will delight her many friends.

Miss Mand Haywood, of Savannah, a pretty and bright little miss, is visiting Miss Bessie Mills.

Miss Mande Lou Hatcher, of Knoxyille, who has been visiting Griffin, and while here captivated the hearts of our young men, returned home Saturday, accompanied by her friend, Miss Annie Wheston.

Miss Janie Looney, who was one of the most popular of our young ladies when she lived here, returned Friday, and is the guest of the Misses Hair.

Hon. Samuel B. Adams, of Savannah, is summering here with his family.

Two charming young ladies from Montezuma, Misses Lizzie and Mabel Veal, are the guests of Mrs. Sparks.

Mr. Frank Stafford, of Barnesville, and Mr. Charles Cook, of Macon, spent part of last week in Griffin.

Gainesville.

The social events of the week have been a dance at the Arlington on Tuesday night, a reception given by Dr. and Mrs. Balley in honor of Misses Fannie and Lillie Collier, of Atlanta, and a party at the Hudson house on Wednesday, a trip to New Holland on Thursday night and a pleasant sociable at the home of Mrs. Jackson on Friday night, in honor of Miss Elia Stanley.

The reception given by Dr. and Mrs. Balley was most pleasant and elegant in every respect. It is needless to give the names of those present. It is quite sufficient to say they were Gainesville's fairest ladies and most gallant beaux. Dr. Balley has by far the loveliest home in the city, and on Wednesday night as "the lights shone o'er fair women and brave men" and gay voices and merry laughter broke the stillness of the summer night, the effect was most enchanting. At eleven o'clook the guests repaired to the diningroom where an elegant supper awaited them. Taken all in all this was one of the most pleasant occasions of the season.

The party at the Hudson was also very pleasant

The party at the Hudson was also very pleasant indeed, as such occasions are when under the skillful supervision of Mrs. Brown, Miss Garner and Miss Nettie Wright.

As usual the dance at the Artington was well attended. The music was furnished by the Italian band engaged by Mr. Clark, the proprietor.

One of the greatest sources of amusement to the Gainesville young folk and the summer visitor stopping with us is the frequent excursion at night to New Holland. In these days they are always sure of two things—a pleasant welcome by Messrs. Callaway & Camp and spleudid dancing. Thursday night was one of the most enjoyable of these most delightul trips.

Misses Emma and Alice Daniel, who have been visiting Athens, have returned home. Misses Fannie and Lillie Collier, who have been visiting their aunts, Mrs. Rudolph and Mrs. Dr. Bailey, returned home Friday.

Mr. Turnell, of Madison, his sister, Miss Mattle, and Miss Maud Overby have gone home.

Mrs. Terrie, wife of Wm. H. Terrie, with her little boy, is once more among her Gainesville friends.

Professor La Hatte has taken quite an extensive trip through Georgia in the interest of the Methodist college. He says the outlook is most fattering.

He prou complied, when he was informed that he viciating the city ordinance, and that it w be necessary for him to appear before a be necessary for him to appear before a gustice. The hour was designated the next day, but the prisoner for the matter, and failed to attend, policeman thereupon called on him at headquarters and reminded him of the gagement. The general was not pleased what he regarded as undue pertinacity of policeman, but when told by the latter the had served under him at Vicksburg, withe learned that it was the first duty of a dier and subordinate to obey orders, the seral yielded, and commended him for eral yielded, and commended him for performance of his duty. He accordance appeared before the justice, who impose fine, which was paid promptly, with fine, which was paid promptly, without murmur.

At about that time a change was made the city ordinance. Fast trotting had be prohibited, not only within the boundarie the city but throughout the District of umbia. The authorities, upon due considition, thought that the ordinance was universarily severe, and repealed it as to country roads. General Grant read casus or perhaps only heard of this chand concluded that it app to the streets as well as the roads. His take got him into trouble a second time. was arrested and taken before a justice, a the first effense.
